END COMES TO MRS. PERKINS

Beloved Wife of Popular Young Physician Died Yesterday

OF INTESTINAL OBSTRUCTION.

Had Resided Here About One Year—Burial In Elkton To-day.

Mrs. Ether Goodman Perkins, the beautiful young wife of Dr. Thorton W. Perkins, died yesterday at one o'clock of intestinal obstruction with which she was taken suddenly a few days before. In spite of all that medical skill and loving care could do to afford relief, she continued to grow worse until Thursday night when her condition became hopeless and near relatives of Dr. Perkins were summoned from Elkton and Russellville. She lingered until shortly after noon and peacefully passed away.

Mrs. Perkins was born in Macon, Ga., in 1885 and was married to Dr. Perkins in 1904. They removed to this city from Elkton about a year ago and during the short time she had lived here Mrs. Perkins had made many warm friends, who deeply regret her untimely death. At her request her body will be taken to Elkton for interment to-day.

Mr. Ben T. Perkins, of Elkton, father of Dr. Perkins, and Mr. Henry Trimble, of Russellville, and other relatives were present when the end came.

She was a member of the Christian Church.

GREATEST COAL OPERATOR

John B. Atkinson, pioneer coal operator of Earlington, Hopkins county, passed away Thursday afternoon at ten minutes after one o'clock at his summer home in Wrightstown, New Jersey, surrounded by his wife, brothers and relatives. One of the most remarkable careers of any American citizen ended with death.

For the past two years Mr. Atkinson has been in declining health and has been in a critical condition several times but always made surprising rallies. He suffered from a complication of diseases.

John Bond Atkinson was born at Mullica Hill, N. J., November 11, 1840. He was of old New Jersey Quaker stock and was educated in the common schools of New Jersey.

In 1871 he came to Kentucky to take charge of the mining operations of the St. Bernard Coal Co., for a company of Eastern capitalists. He succeeded Col. Lige Sebrer, of Trenton, as president. Before he moved to Earlington he lived for several months in Hopkinsville.

He was married twice. His first wife was a Miss Ferring, of New Jersey, to whom two children were born; John Atkinson died in 1885, at the age of 21; Mrs. Mary Moore, wife of Hon. P. M. Moore, died in 1907. His first wife died in 1899.

His second wife was Miss Annie Black, who also lived in New Jersey, the marriage occurring about seven years ago. They have one child, Nannie, four years old.

Starting in life poor he became the greatest coal operator in Kentucky and was active president of the company which controlled nine mines.
